A WHISPER IN BOSTON

Heard in Wheeling Through a Long Distance Telephone.

DISTANCE IS NOW ANNIHILATED

And Your Voice Can Be Heard as Far East as Augusta, Maine, and West as Far as Appleton, Wisconsin. One of the Triumphs of Genius of the Nineteenth Century. Which is About Closing its Doors on the Most Inventive Period in the World's History—A Satisfactory Test of the Long Distance Telephone Company's Lines at the Wheeling Exchange Yesterday.

Puck, through the vivid imagination of Mr. Shakespeare, was made to say that he would put a girdle around the earth in forty minutes. For many years this statement remained a figure of speech until the electric telegraph not only vindicated Mr. Puck's occult observation, but went him many minutes better. This wonderful achievement of the ingenuity of man sinks almost into insignificance, when it was practically demonstrated yesterday that a person speaking in an ordinary tone of voice in Wheeling could be heard distinctly in Boston, Massachusetts. More wonderful than that the same feat can be accomplished from Augusta, Maine, to Appleton, Wis., with still greater possibilities in sight by merely extending the line. Such is one of the most wonderful achievements of this wondrous nineteenth century whose genius seems to have been touched by the magic wand of some supernatural Carlostrato. Some days ago Manager M. R. Wolf, of the Telephone Exchange, sent out a number of the following invitations:

THE AMERICAN TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY Invites you to Attend the Opening of its LONG DISTANCE LINES, Connecting Wheeling with the Principal Cities of the East and West, on MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1894, FROM 2 TO 6 P. M., At the Telephone Exchange, Corner Twelfth and Main Streets, People's Bank Building.

In response to these invitations about 250 people gathered in the front room of the exchange to witness the test of the long distance telephone line. Among those present were many prominent citizens and a number of ladies, and from 3 to 6 o'clock people continued coming and going. As there were only forty receivers only that number of people could be accommodated at a time, and during the entire period of the test every one was in use with porous waiting their turn. The exhibition was eminently successful in every particular, those present expressing their wonder and amazement at the distinctness with which one could hear a voice in Boston over a slender wire.

When all was in readiness Mayor B. F. Caldwell took his stand in front of the annunciator, and when connection was made with the offices of long distance lines in New York City he conversed in an ordinary tone of voice, and when the reply came back over the wires it was curious to note the expressions on the faces of the forty people who were grouped about the table and holding the receivers to their ears. The first impression of amazement soon gave way to a pleasant smile of satisfaction. And while all this was going on O'Neill, the photographer, took a flash light photograph of the remarkable scene.

As wonderful as was this test the annihilation of space was to get another jolt, and no "pent up Utica confined the powers" of the instrument. This was when Mr. Morris Horkheimer, of Horkheimer Bros., called up a wool merchant in Boston, Mass., and talked with him on that staple product to his own satisfaction and the edification of those present in regard to prices and the outlook of the market. The Register reporter was present when the conversation commenced, but when it was concluded he was nowhere to be seen. It was said by someone in accounting for his absence that his rest had been so disturbed by mosquitoes that he was too weak to stand the racket. Another, whose perspicacity was equal to an Egyptian seer, vowed that his only purpose was to send an emissary down into Monroe county to put another visionary cent on the fleeces of that region.

Mayor Caldwell then took another whirl at the 'phone, and directed his voice to the Windy City, calling up Mr. Keeler, of Chicago, the father of his son-in-law. The mayor's message was as follows:

"Wheeling, the metropolis of West Virginia, greets the village by the lake, and wishes to say that whatever differences there may have been between us in the past are healed, and for the future we will be on speaking terms, not only with the great metropolis of the west but all the world beside. This great work has been brought about by the good offices of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company."

Mr. Keeler, Jr., of this city, also conversed with his father in Chicago. Mr. B. S. Allison talked to friends in Cincinnati; Mr. J. D. Culbertson to Chicago; Augustus Pollack, Col. Sam H. Harrison, C. R. Tracy, to New York. Mr. J. H. Devore, of the brokerage firm of Copp & Devore, called up one of their correspondents in New York city and closed a trade on sugar—mingling a little business, as it were, with the pleasures and festivities of the afternoon.

In the evening a number of citizens and ladies dropped in and were entertained with a talk to Pittsburgh by Mr. H. J. Carl, an attaché of the company. Manager Wolf, of the local office, did the honors as host, and it is needless to say that he acquitted himself in an acceptable manner.

The long distance telephone line is now completed from Augusta, Maine, to Appleton, Wisconsin, and has the metallic circuit connection, otherwise known as pair copper wire. This district serves West Virginia, Central Ohio and Central Indiana, and is in connection with the 2,000 offices of the service now in operation, which includes all the large cities as far west as Milwaukee and east as far as Augusta, Maine. The line, of course, will be extended as rapidly as possible, working a revolution in communications of long distance.

At the conclusion of the afternoon test Manager Wolf, of the telephone exchange, took charge of the visitors and in his company inspected the plant. The new switch board, with all the latest improvements, the test board and underground connections were viewed with interest. Fifteen operators are employed in the exchange, which is one of the most complete in its arrangement, comfortable in quarters and service in the country, and of which Manager Wolf feels justly proud.

The general business office was then visited. It is fitted up with two sets of long distance telephones, placed in sound proof booths for the accommodation of the general public. The long distance company has placed fifty of their loud speaking instruments in this city, which includes a number of wholesale and retail houses and the principal hotels. The loud speaking telephone is supplied with double wires, and its advantages are that it is free from all confusion of sound or interruption by atmospheric or electrical disturbances. A number of persons who attended the long distance telephone test yesterday were subscribers to the loud speaking 'phones, and warmly praised that instrument and its advantages over the common telephone, especially for local use, as it must not be supposed that the loud speaking instrument is for long distances exclusively. One enthusiastic subscriber to the loud speaking telephone vowed that he would not return to the old service for any consideration, and any one who has given it a trial will readily believe him.

THE CONVENTIONS.

Belmont County Democratic Convention To-day.

The Democratic Belmont county convention will be held in Bridgeport to-day with Judge Robert M. Eaton as chairman. There is very little interest being taken in the matter beyond the fact that there are a few leaders who will inject resolutions denouncing Senator Brice and other leading Democrats. This will meet with vigorous opposition, as there are many Democrats in this section who realize that Brice is the man to whom they must look for comfort from this time on.

The congressional convention will be held in the same hall to-morrow. Judge A. J. Pearson arrived at Bellaire last night and he will not be the candidate of his party. His friends have been for him if he desired a renomination, but they will do his bidding in the matter, while a number of others will insist upon his nomination, and it is probable his presence will be necessary to prevent it. There are Democrats who will want to compliment Marion Huffman, a Bellaire druggist, with the vote of Belmont county, and if this proves successful Huffman might be the nominee, as it is certain there is no one else anxious for it.

Gentlemen—I cannot tell you how my wife has improved since she began the use of your "Favorite Prescription," coupled with "G. M. B." She has no more trouble with falling of the womb, and she never feels any pain unless she stands too long. She has no bearing-down pains since she began the use of your remedies. She does nearly all of her own housework now, but before she commenced taking your remedies, she could hardly walk across the room.

I do not know how to thank you for all the good your remedies have done for her, for the best doctors had given her up as incurable.

Yours truly,
ALFRED LEWIS.

WHAT SHALL THE HARVEST BE?

IT'S not the wheat harvest we are figuring on, that makes no bookkeeping for us; it's the harvest of weddings that comes from the field of picnics, tennis camps, yachting, moonlight strolls and such like frivolities, that makes life worth living for us furnishers and outfitters.

A wedding means fine Underclothes, elegant Neckwear, Dent's English Kids, Full Dress Suits, E. & W. Collars and Cuffs and a lot of other things too numerous to mention.

Perhaps, dear reader, you may be one of the lucky people going into double harness in the near future. If so, we want to talk with you. We firmly believe we can fit you out in the most correct style and save you money on every article purchased. Many are the bridegrooms we have fixed up for the momentous occasion and caused them to pass muster like veterans.
